Dear College of Education Alumni, Partners, Students and Friends,

As Dean of the College of Education, I am pleased to welcome you to the new and improved College of Education Connections Magazine. For the first time, many of you will be receiving this electronically and we are hopeful that you will take the time to pursue the many great things that are happening in the College of Education at Lewis University.

At Lewis and in the College of Education, we are all about connections: We believe it is our connections with our students that result in the next generation of teachers and administrators who can truly transform their students and their schools into welcoming, remarkable places of learning. Our emphasis on social justice and equity is a key component of every class and field experience.

As you read through the following pages, you will see that we have much to be proud of in the College of Education. Last May, we received full recognition for our educator preparation programs from the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. In addition, all of our programs have received recognition from their professional organization and the State Educator Preparation and Licensure Board of Illinois. We added several new programs including a Middle Level Licensure program in the areas of English/Language Arts, Mathematics, Science and Social Studies and a Foreign Language Licensure program in Spanish.

Our Secondary Education Department in collaboration with Math and the Sciences from the College of Arts and Sciences was awarded a Robert Noyce Grant through the National Science Foundation for $1.44 million over five years to be used for scholarship support for candidates to obtain middle or secondary licensure in math or science for high need schools. The Early Childhood program received a grant from the Illinois Board of Higher Education for innovation and partnerships to increase and improve

From the Dean

Sincerely,

Dr. Pamela Jesse

Dr. Pamela Jesse

Early Childhood Education in the state of Illinois. Congratulations to the many faculty and staff at Lewis University who have worked tirelessly to make these recognitions and awards a reality for our College.

We are also connected to our Catholic and Lasallian heritage through the work of the Institute for the Advancement of Catholic and Lasallian Education. Through the Institute, we provide support to Catholic schools in the Joliet Diocese and beyond through preparation of competent teachers and administrators as well as professional development. We continue to ground our work in the principles of Lasallian education including development of the whole child, education as a basic and fundamental right and the worth and dignity of all humans.

These are challenging but exciting times in the field of education and we, the faculty, staff, students and alumni, are committed to high quality education for all children everywhere. The need for highly competent teachers continues to grow nationwide and we believe that our teacher candidates leave us with more than a license or ability to plan a lesson - we believe that they leave us understanding that they have been called by God to this work.

Sincerely,

From the Dean

Dr. Pamela Jesse

PRESENTATIONS AT NATIONAL AND LOCAL CONFERENCES

In January of 2015, Dr. Dorene Huvaere, Dr. Barbara Mackey, Dr. Pamela Jesse and Dr. Christopher Palmi were invited to present at the Lasallian Association of Elementary and Middle Schools in Easton, New Jersey. The two-day presentation focused on helping faculty build resilience and grit with students from economically marginalized environments. Their work explored research based concepts and strategies that help students to be successful despite the challenging circumstances as they may face both in and out of school.

In January of 2015, Dr. Mitra Faihali was invited to present a paper at the Persian Circle of the Center for Middle Eastern Studies at the University of Chicago. The same paper “A Comparison of the Patterns of the Immigration of Iranians to the United States Before and After the Revolution of 1979 and Status of Iranians in American Society” was presented at the DARIEN Conference on October 24, 2015 at Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana.

In February of 2015, Dr. Dorene Huvaere and Dr. Christopher Palmi presented on how to design a middle level licensure program at the Association of Teacher Educators Conference in Phoenix, Arizona. The focus included revised Illinois requirements and the ways in which Lewis University may address those changes while staying committed to the tenets of the Lasallian mission.

In April of 2015, Dr. Mitra Faihali presented a paper at the Midwest Association of Graduate Schools (MAGS) Conference on Graduate programs in the 21st Century: “Factors that impact sustained healthy growth and progress for graduate programs” during the association’s annual conference held at St. Louis, Missouri. The paper was an analysis and summary of data from graduate students’ interviews and an extensive review of literature.

In early November 2015, Dr. Nancy Kennedy and Dr. Seung Kim presented at the International Visual Literacy Conference held at the de Young Museum of Fine Arts in San Francisco, California. Many speakers from the United States and several foreign countries presented materials that support the importance of Visual Literacy in the 21st century and in our global society. Drs. Kim and Kennedy collaborated their work in the College of Education working with students in the Child and Adolescent Literature and Integrated Fine Arts classes with an Instructional Technology class. Students took a storytelling project and added a digital component to it, making the storytelling more engaging and motivating to all learners. The title of the project presented was “Visual Literacy Strategies for Pre-Service Teachers in the Elementary Education Program.”

PUBLICATIONS

Dr. Erica Kwiatkowski-Egizio published her first book, Developing Mathematical Knowledge for Teaching, on July 13, 2015. The two questions that frame the research in this book are: (1) How do pre-service teachers develop mathematical knowledge for teaching during a coordinated math methods course and field experience? and (2) What types of portfolio tasks lend themselves to documenting mathematical knowledge in teaching? Research results illustrated the growth of mathematical knowledge for teaching that occurred for each participant. Implications for the field of mathematics education, future research and teacher preparation programs are also discussed. The book is published by IAP LAMBERT Academic Publishing Company.

Dr. Mitra Faihali’s research on teacher burnout led to the development of an article, co-authored by Dr. Pam Jesse, on the aspects of teacher preparation programs that can better prepare teacher candidates for handling stress that leads to teacher burnout for novice teachers. The title of the article is “Looking Beyond the Licensure in Teacher Preparation Programs: Planning School-Based Experiences Aimed at Reducing ‘Teacher Burnout.” The article has been accepted for publication in the upcoming edition of the Critical Issues in Teacher Education magazine.

Dr. William Blackwell’s research on communicating assessment results to parents and teachers of children with disabilities has been accepted for publication in a forthcoming book titled Special Education: Developments, Teaching Strategies and Parent Involvement (NOVA Science Publications). Dr. Blackwell interviewed 36 participants to: a) learn about their experiences with assessment reporting and b) understand their opinions on a pilot format for reporting assessment results to parents and teachers. The findings will hopefully inform assessment practices at the state and local levels.
A team of faculty members from the College of Education and the College of Arts and Sciences wrote the Grant. Dr. Dorene Hvuave will serve as the primary investigator with Dr. Ray Klump (Math) and Dr. Jerry Kovarous (Biology) serving as co-investigators. Additional collaborators on the Grant include Dr. Joseph Kozminski, Dr. Erica Kwasikowski-Egigo, Ms. Jeannette Pike, Dr. Lauren Rentfro and Mr. Jeffrey Ritchie.

Lewis University will collaborate with Joliet Junior College, College of DuPage, Midtown National Tallgrass Prairie, Three Rivers Manufacturers Association, Valley View Public School District U265, Joliet District 86 and Oak Lawn District 21B for the recruitment of students and implementation of the Noyce Teacher Grant. In addition to recruitment of the potential Noyce scholar candidates, faculty of the Joliet Junior College and the College of DuPage will partner with Lewis faculty to promote STEAM teacher preparation by hosting pedagogical and content knowledge workshops throughout the year. Community based partners, including the Midtown National Tallgrass Prairie and the Three Rivers Manufacturers Association, will provide summer internships for scholars to engage in a six-week Reality-Based Learning Summer Practicum. Scholars will participate in activities with STEAM faculty and STEM professionals working in the community, discovering how research translates into practice in the real world and how it can be applied to their future classrooms.

Noyce Scholars will work with a mentor during their coursework at Lewis University and will continue their relationship for two-years after graduation to help transition them into a novice teacher to an experienced classroom instructor.
The goal of the Best Buddies program is to create opportunities for one-to-one friendships, integrated employment and leadership development for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Best Buddies chapters across the nation are located in middle schools, high schools and colleges and are dedicated to including students with and without intellectual disabilities in one-to-one friendship opportunities. Students must be enrolled at a school with a Best Buddies chapter or an affiliated service provider/agency. Members with intellectual disabilities must be at least 18 years old to join a college chapter. Currently there are over 80 members in the Lewis University Chapter and includes over 40 Buddies from across the Will County region. Various activities are planned monthly throughout the year and include, but are not limited to—bowling, attending sporting events, trips to Chicago, talent shows and the annual Buddy Ball. The University students also reach out to their buddy for individual events in between the scheduled activities.
Lewis University celebrated the 25th anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) with a series of presentations by Lewis faculty and renowned authors, a presentation and discussion of films and other thought-provoking activities for students, faculty, staff and the local community. Among the presenters were nationally known author and motivational speaker, Jonathan Mooney; Kathy Nimmer, 2015 Indiana Teacher of the Year; Dr. David Perry, a freelance journalist and disability activist and a great number of presentations by faculty from different disciplines. The celebration of the anniversary of the ADA was the focus of the Lewis 2015 Teach-In efforts that have taken place at Lewis during the year. According to the Department of Justice, “the ADA is one of America’s most comprehensive pieces of civil rights legislation that prohibits discrimination and guarantees that people with disabilities have the same opportunities as everyone else to participate in the mainstream of American life – to enjoy employment opportunities, to purchase goods and services and to participate in State and local government programs and services.” Modeled after the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex or national origin – and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 – the ADA is an “equal opportunity” law for people with disabilities. The Americans with Disabilities Act has established for the disabled members of society the right and access to equal public services, accommodations and health care. Despite the fact that disparities exist in many areas such as earned income, housing, employment and health care, the ADA law has become the vehicle for moving toward equity and the attainment of social justice in society. The weeklong celebration of the Americans with Disabilities Act would not have been possible without the tireless efforts of the Peace Education Committee members. This year, the committee was led by Dr. William Blackwell from the College of Education and Dr. Karen Trimble-Alliaume from the College of Arts and Sciences. The committee also included Dr. Tenvilla Allen, Dr. Christy Billups, Dr. Jennifer Buss, Dr. Mary Fisher, Lindsay Harmon, Dr. Pamela Jasse, Dr. Erica Kwiatkowski-Egizio, Dr. Sheila Kennedy, Kelley Plass, Dr. Anne Rapp and Dr. Christy Roberts. Our sincere appreciation goes to all the committee members who made the 25th anniversary celebration of the ADA a successful week of teaching, learning and reflection.
The Sixth Annual Bishop Roger L. Kaffer Outstanding Principal Award was presented to Mrs. Rita Stasi, Principal of St. Joseph Catholic School, Downers Grove on April 30. Dr. Pamela Jesse, Dean of the College of Education and emcee of the event, welcomed those in attendance.

Mrs. Stasi attended Mundelein College (B.A. 1966), DePaul University (M.A. 1979) and Governors State University (M.A. 1998). She began her career in the Chicago Public School System serving 41 years as a teacher, special education case manager and Principal of Corkery Elementary School. Since 2007, she has served as the Principal of St. Joseph Parish Catholic School in Downers Grove.

Mrs. Kelly Roth, one of Mrs. Stasi’s nominators, said, “My three children have received a wonderful, faith-based education at St. Joe’s, in large part due to Mrs. Stasi’s efforts. She shows her commitment to our faith in everything she does. She is a hard-working, faith-based leader and exemplifies what it means to be a caring, loving, supportive Catholic school principal.”

PREVIOUS RECIPIENTS OF THE BISHOP KAFFER OUTSTANDING PRINCIPAL AWARD:

2014 - Frank Glowaty, retired principal of Sts. Peter & Paul Parish School
2013 - Maureen White, retired principal of St. Irene Parish School
2012 - Maryann O’Neill, principal of Montini Catholic High School
2011 - Dr. Mary Kelly, retired principal of St. Petronille Parish School
2010 - Sister Carolyn Sieg O.S.B., retired principal, St. Joan of Arc Parish School

On behalf of the College of Education, Dr. Pamela Jesse, Dean, presented Dr. Karen Sullivan with the 2015 Educations Lumen Award during the annual recognition ceremony on Dec. 9. A leader in the field of education for the past 34 years, Dr. Sullivan personifies the Catholic and Lasallian values honored in the Educations Lumen Award. A native of Springfield, Dr. Sullivan attended the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign where she received her B.S. in Speech and Hearing and M.S. in Speech-Language Pathology. Dr. Sullivan was a member of Lewis University’s inaugural Ed D. graduating class in 2009 when she earned her Ed.D. in Educational Leadership for Teaching and Learning.

Dr. Sullivan began her career as a Speech/Language Pathologist in the Flossmoor-based South Metropolitan Association, a special education cooperative that provided services to south suburban school districts. She went on to lead the group’s parent infusion program and interim district was named the Director of Grants and Special Projects.

In 1995, she began her Indian Prairie District 204 career as the Principal of the Prairie Children Preschool where she was opened, opened and provided building level leadership in operations and curriculum development for an inclusive district-operated community preschool of approximately 575 students. Prairie Children Preschool received wide local and national acclaim for its inclusive philosophy of serving all preschoolers together, including those with disabilities. Dr. Sullivan also led the development of the first specialized autism spectrum early childhood classrooms in the district. After serving as Director of Student Services from 2000-2005, she became the Principal of Mary Lou Cawshlaw Elementary School, a K-5 Title I targeted assistance school. With her school improvement team, Dr. Sullivan led an effort that resulted in increased overall student achievement by 12-15% while narrowing the achievement gap.

In 2009, Dr. Sullivan joined Elmhurst District 205 as their Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction. There, she introduced and implemented the RTI/Problem Solving Model and tiered system of interventions to better support students with special needs.

In 2009, she returned to Indian Prairie District 204 as the Assistant Superintendent for Human Resources and three years later became the Superintendent of the fourth largest school district in Illinois. In September, 2015, Dr. Sullivan was recognized by the League NAACP for “Community Leadership in Education.”

As a member of the League of Innovative Schools, Dr. Sullivan was asked by the organization to be a part of their Digital Promise Leadership Coaching Program. She coaches other superintendents and their districts as they work through their digital transformation and technology integration initiatives.

Brother James Gaffney, FSC, presents the Educations Lumen Award to Dr. Sullivan with Dr. Pamela Jesse.

The institute of the College for the Advancement of Catholic and Lasallian Education at Lewis University goes back a few years. It began as both a vision and a directive, according to Larry Wiers, Director of the Institute.

“Dr. Jeanette Mines, Dean of the College of Education at the time, had the vision that we needed a way to meet the needs of some of our area Catholic schools,” Wiers said. “Around the same time, Bishop Joseph Sartain of the Diocese of Joliet met with Dr. James Gaffney, FSC, President of Lewis University. Bishop Sartain asked the universities in the Joliet Diocese to assist the Catholic K-12 schools in the Diocese,” explained Wiers. The Institute is the hub of this type of work at Lewis University.

There are six areas of focus for the Institute:

1. Leadership Development which offers a tuition discount for aspiring Catholic school leaders that makes it more affordable for them to obtain a master’s degree and additional state licensure.
2. Teacher Preparation has been provided on several of the colleges at Lewis University. Technology consultation, an online Theology course for high school seniors in Michigan, marketing and communication consultation to help with boosting enrollment, work with health and immunization records and administrator mentoring are just a few of the ways the various colleges at Lewis University have assisted school districts.

OUTSTANDING TEACHER AWARDS

Every year the Joliet Region Chamber of Commerce and Industry honors outstanding Joliet area elementary, intermediate and secondary teachers. In 2015, three graduates of Lewis University College of Education received the Joliet Region Chamber of Commerce and Industry Award for their outstanding performance in teaching.

Yenny Munoz-Swanger, a graduate of the Elementary Education program at Lewis University, is a second grade bilingual educator at Sator Sanchez Elementary school. Arlene Rodenick received her graduate degree from Lewis in Curriculum and Instruction/English Language Learner. She is an ELL specialist for students often through fourth grade at Troy Sherwood Elementary School. Dana Schuster received her master’s degree in Curriculum and Instruction at Lewis University. She teaches life skills at Gompers Junior High School.

Laws University and the College of Education continually seek grant funding, as well as research, that will benefit Catholic and Lasallian schools.

Finally, the Institute offers a wide variety of mission-based professional development opportunities to expand and deepen faculty’ staff understanding of Lasallian history, pedagogy and spirituality, as well as Saint John Baptist de La Salle’s educational philosophy and his contributions to the teaching profession. An example of this is “Exploring Lasallian Mission (ELM)” a formation program especially designed for those who work in Lasallian schools and universities.

“Most of our requests come by word of mouth,” says Wiers, who also travels around the Diocese visiting schools and determining how the College of Education can best serve them. “If a school is able to pay for the services, they do. However, if they are not able to pay we make arrangements through the Institute. Our goal is to assist the underserved schools.”

For more information on the Institute, please contact Mr. Larry Wiers, College of Education at lwiers@lwsu.edu or (815) 836-5790.
Many people love challenges in their lives, but some professional challenges are more difficult than others. For the second year, Lewis University graduate, Sabrina Dubik (class of 2007, English/Education), is taking on the position of principal/curriculum director at Kinglee International High School in Zhengzhou, China, a town of 10 million people. Following her graduation from Lewis and before her role as principal, Sabrina taught English at Minooka High School. She was an outstanding teacher at Minooka, teaching Advanced Placement English courses, coaching the dance team to a state championship and acting as Assistant Director of Activities.

Kinglee High School currently has 185 students who will be instructed in English while taking all suggested courses for graduation including a third foreign language (either Spanish or French). The school will have the latest technology and the teachers will bring the latest in educational strategies and best practices to China’s students.

Sabrina is very excited to serve as principal of Kinglee for a second year. This opportunity was just too good to pass up. Many people love challenges in life, and Sabrina Dubik is definitely one of those individuals.

THE GOLDEN APPLE SCHOLARS

The Golden Apple Scholars of Illinois is a scholarship program that identifies talented high school seniors, as well as first- and second-year college students who have the promise and drive to be excellent teachers in high-need schools.

More than a scholarship program that simply awards funding, Golden Apple provides four years of residential summer institutes, which offer on-site classroom experience, as well as mentoring from a Golden Apple teacher.

Golden Apple scholars Abby Michels '15 is pictured with Dr. Nancy Kennedy, her former professor and mentor. Abby is currently a Lasallian volunteer teaching in a Lasallian middle school in Concord, Calif.

LEWIS UNIVERSITY COE ALUM TO LEAD TEACHERS IN CHINA

LASALLIAN SPEAKER

Kelly Cisco was a non-traditional undergraduate: wife, mother and grandmother. Now, she can add another title - college graduate. The 44-year-old Joliet resident earned a bachelor’s degree in Special Education/Elementary Education with Endorsements in English/Language Arts and Social Studies at the December 20, 2015 Undergraduate Commencement Ceremony. During the ceremony, Cisco spoke from her unique perspective to the graduating class about “the responsibilities we have as Lasallian graduates to go forth into the world and create change.” Each Commencement, one graduating senior is chosen to deliver the Lasallian Address, a speech that reflects the principles that guide the University’s Mission. Her dedication to academics is obvious in her 4.0 GPA that she earned. She credits Lewis University with inspiring her to go beyond the books. She said, “I have learned about more than just becoming an educator.”

RETIREMENTS

DR. SUZANNE O’BRIEN

Dr. Suzanne O’Brien retired from Lewis University in December of 2015. Dr. O’Brien began her career in the Department of Elementary Education as an adjunct before being hired as a full time faculty member in the Fall of 2003. Dr. O’Brien assumed the position as chair of the Department of Elementary Education in the Fall of 2012. In addition to teaching and leading the department, Dr. O’Brien was also the advisor to all graduate elementary education students. In 2009, Dr. O’Brien led the development of the Early Childhood program. Dr. O’Brien has served as President of the Illinois Branch of the International Dyslexia Association.

NEW FACULTY

DR. LAURA QUAYNOR

The Department of Educational Leadership welcomes Dr. Laura Quaynor as a full-time Assistant Professor in the English as a Second Language Program. According to Dr. Barbara Mackey, “Dr. Quaynor’s work in a dual language/immersion school and her international research in education will bring new ideas for best practice in teaching English language learners as well as native English speaking students.”

Dr. Quaynor earned her doctorate degree in Educational Studies from Emory University in Atlanta, Ga. She earned a master’s degree in Education: French and ESL and a bachelor’s degree in French and African Studies with a minor in Foreign Affairs, both from University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va. She taught at both the elementary and secondary levels before joining the ranks of college faculty member.

She previously worked at the University of South Carolina Aiken in the School of Education, teaching ESL pedagogy and foundations courses, and in the K-12 system as an ESL and French Immersion teacher. Her scholarship focuses on citizenship education and language education in contexts of migration and conflict, particularly in West Africa and the United States.

DR. ERICA DAVILA

Dr. Erica Davila is the newest member of the Department of Educational Leadership in the College of Education, joining the faculty as an Associate Professor who will teach in the Ed.D Program.

Davila earned her doctorate and master’s degree in Educational Policy Studies from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Her bachelor’s degree in Elementary Education and Sociology is from Northeastern Illinois University. She comes to Lewis University from Arcadia University in Glenside, Pa where she most recently served as Director of Middle and Secondary Education in the Department of Teaching and Learning in the School of Education. She has presented at numerous conferences, most recently in the fall 2014 at the Puerto Rican Studies Association Symposium at Rutgers University in Newark, N.J. She has published many articles regarding urban education and Latino education.
DR. BARBARA MACKEY

Dr. Barbara Mackey joined the faculty of the Educational Leadership Program in August, 2003 following a successful career in education as Superintendent of Cook County School District 130 in Blue Island. Dr. Mackey’s dedication to the support and promotion of the Lasallian tradition has been manifested not only in her teaching but in her tireless efforts in the foundation, teaching, and leadership of the English as a Second Language program in the College of Education. Throughout the years, Dr. Mackey has been instrumental in the recruitment and education of hundreds of practicing teachers who have pursued an ESL endorsement or a master’s degree from the College of Education at Lewis University. Dr. Jeanette Mines, who hired Dr. Mackey in 2003 said, “Dr. Mackey brought to the College of Education and Lewis University extensive experience in urban education with a deep commitment to students most in need. Her experiences as a teacher, mid-level administrator and superintendent in the public schools and her academic preparation provided Lewis University students with a wealth of knowledge from both experiential and theoretical perspectives. Her understanding of public school funding and the educational political process engaged the students and made difficult material relevant and practical.”

DR. LAURA SLOAN

Upon the retirement of Dr. Laura Sloan, Professor in the Department of Special Education, Dr. Pamela Jesssee, Dean of the College of Education, shared the following remarks at the COE meeting in May, “Dr. Laura Sloan is completing her 20 something year here at Lewis in the Department of Special Education and has served as Department Chair and was the founder and faculty sponsor of Best Buddies.” At the 16th annual Buddy Ball held in March, Dr. Sloan received the “Best Buddies Legacy Award” from the State of Illinois. Dr. Sloan was recognized for helping to establish the Best Buddies Ball as an annual event at Lewis University and for her dedication to those with intellectual disabilities and to educating students to serve this population. Dr. Jesssee continued, “The students love her – all of them. They recognize her passion, dedication and commitment to make them the best teachers. As one of the founding faculty in the College, Laura was instrumental in the development of all the programs, the increases in enrollment, state approvals and accreditation. We must never forget that it is Laura’s work in the early days that has paved the way for us to be a recognized entity for educator preparation. And now she deserves and has earned a rest, although a short one because Laura will return to teach Sign Language.”

Dr. Laura Sloan was awarded Professor Emeritus status in May, 2015.

MR. RICHARD CLISH

Dr. Jeanette Mines, Academic Associate to the Provost, shared some memories of Richard (Dick) Clish upon his retirement from the College of Education in May Mines, Dean of the College of Education when Clish was hired, said, “Because of a sabbatical in 2003, we hired Dick Clish as an adjunct to teach one class. Later, because of another sabbatical in 2006,” she continued, “Dick was hired to serve as interim Department Chair in the Department of Secondary Education. He has served that Department, the College and the University as a dedicated faculty member ever since. We hired him because of his extensive teaching and administrative experiences as an English teacher, department chair and principal of Proviso West High School in Hillside. That was what got him hired, but what kept him at Lewis, beyond his one year contract, was his incredible advocacy for students, his outstanding teaching and his willingness to serve in multiple capacities wherever and whenever needed.”

“Dick often says, ‘Teaching is not about content–it is about relationship,’” Mines said. “I’m not drawing any parallels here, but don’t those words sound similar to what St. John Baptist de La Salle said about ‘touching hearts?’”

In addition to his teaching responsibilities, Clish has been an avid volunteer for the College of Education trips to San Miguel Back of the Yards Middle School in Chicago, he volunteers for local Chamber events, is a supporter of the Great Teacher Banquet, has served on his parish school board and is an active member of the Knights of Columbus. In addition, he has served on many College of Education committees, as well as several University committees.

BROTHER JAMES GAFFNEY, FSC

The faculty and staff of the College of Education would like to extend the warmest of wishes to Brother James Gaffney, FSC, upon the occasion of his retirement in June of 2016. Brother James has been a steadfast support to the College of Education and a champion for Lasallian education. We express our gratitude for his leadership over these many years and offer our prayers for many happy and healthy years ahead.
