

Arts & Ideas Event

Human Trafficking – The Story of Survivors

VIRTUAL event

Sponsored by

Justice, Law and Public Safety Studies

Presenter:
Rosi Orozco

Rosi Orozco is one of the world's most recognized activists in the fight against human trafficking. Through various campaigns, her efforts have informed more than 3 million people and trained nearly 100,000 authorities. In session LXI of the Mexican legislature, she successfully campaigned for the "Law Against Trafficking," which was unanimously voted into law. She has directly helped over 300 victims write a new story. As a result of her work in rescuing victims, creating refuges, and defending humans rights, she has been proposed as a nominee for the Nobel Prize and has received numerous other awards.

Tuesday, March 30, 2021
2:00 PM – 4:00 PM

Human Rights Activist, Rosi Orozco, who authored the book "Blank Page: Stories of Hope and Triumph from Human Trafficking Survivors" will present on the issues surrounding Human Trafficking

Lewis University students register through Arts & Ideas webpage

For more information contact:

Dr. Vesna Markovic

Department Chair – JLPSS

Email: vmarkovic@lewisu.edu

A copy of Rosi's book will be awarded to several randomly selected participants!

This event is co-sponsored by:

Phi Epsilon Theta

(Criminal Justice National Honor Society) and

Gros Institute

JLPSS
Justice, Law and Public Safety Studies
LEWIS UNIVERSITY

GROS
INSTITUTE
Striving Together for Just Peace