CALL FOR PROPOSALS
SPRING 2019 TEACHING & LEARNING SERIES

Have a teaching strategy or resource to share with your colleagues? Want to facilitate a faculty conversation around a particular teaching topic? Have an idea or initiative that you want to develop and bring to the University? Would you like to share resources or information you gained at a professional conference? The Faculty Center for the Advancement of Teaching and Learning invites instructors from all disciplines and staff from all areas to submit a proposal to host a workshop in the Spring 2019 Faculty Center Workshop Series. Submit your Proposal Here

FEATURED TEACHING & LEARNING WORKSHOPS

Register for these workshops & more at leiwus.edu/facultycetner/workshops

Meet Blackboard Ally, a tool to help instructors make their electronic course content more accessible.
Participants will learn how to navigate the Blackboard Ally plug-in software.

November 5, 2018 11am – 12pm
November 28, 2018 2pm – 3pm

VoiceThread for Student Engagement with Dr. Sheila Boysen.
Learn how to utilize Voice Thread in your course to create lectures and interactive discussions using audio, video, and multimedia.
Wednesday, November 14, 1:30– 2pm

Sustainability in and outside the Classroom
Facilitated By John Lerczak, Facilities Coordinator for Sustainability and Administration
Wednesday, November 7, 2:00 – 3pm

Open Educational Resources: How to Use Them, What They Are, and Where to Find Them
Facilitated by Kelley Plass, Instruction & Research Librarian
Wednesday, November 7, 11:00 am – 12:30pm
Dear Colleagues,

The Special Education program in the College of Education would like to invite you to join a reading and discussion group on Building Pedagogical Curb Cuts: Incorporating Disability in the University Classroom and Curriculum, edited by Liat Ben-Moshe, Rebecca C. Cory, Mia Feldbaum, and Ken Sagendorf. According to the most recent data available from the National Center for Educational Statistics, approximately 11% of students enrolled in postsecondary education identify as having a disability and this number is expected to increase as high schools continue emphasizing college readiness.

Two meetings will take place in January and February with details announced once we know the size of the reading group. This reading group has been funded through Faculty Development for the purchase of 10 books.

Please respond to Liz Sturm sturmel@lewisu.edu to participate in this reading group.

Some notable reviews of this edited work:

Michael L. Rowland, The Ohio State University, states in his review that this book “provides readers who are interested in fostering inclusivity in higher education with a broad overview of the issues, perspectives, and challenges facing adult learners with disabilities in the postsecondary environment.”

Susan Baglieri, Teachers College, Columbia University, writes that “this book reaches beyond the scope of strategies-focused compliance with the ADA, and through initially positioning chapters that disrupt able-ist curriculum and pedagogy, the editors emphasize socially responsible curriculum and universally accessible design.”
The Office of Mission and Identity, the University Faculty Development Committee, and the De La Salle Christian Brothers are pleased to reprise 12 for 21: 12 Virtues of a Lasallian Educator for the 21st Century, a series of discussions focused on The Twelve Virtues of a Good Teacher, a document inspired by the teachings of Saint John Baptist de La Salle and published formally in 1785 by Brother Agathon, the fifth Superior General of the De La Salle Christian Brothers. Often considered one of the most significant works in our Lasallian heritage, the 12 Virtues have been studied, taught and espoused by Lasallian educators for decades. 12 for 21 is an opportunity to better understand the history and original context of this document and to discuss what these Virtues mean for Lasallian educators in a 21st Century higher education setting.

Each of the four sessions will focus on three Virtues. Participants are encouraged to make a commitment to attend all four sessions over the course of the 2018-2019 academic year, if possible. Although this level of participation is not essential, it is the best opportunity to understand and appreciate the 12 Virtues in their entirety. Each participant will be provided with “The Twelve Virtues of a Good Teacher” by Brother Agathon (translated by noted Lasallian scholar Brother Gerard Rummery, FSC) and will be asked to read a brief essay about each Virtue prior to attending the discussion sessions.

These 12 for 21 discussion sessions are open to all faculty and staff members; however, space is limited. If you are interested in participating in all the sessions or even just one or two, please click the links to RSVP for a particular session. All 12 for 21 sessions will be hosted by the Christian Brothers in the Lower Level Lounge of La Salle House.

February 1, 2019
3:00pm – 5:00pm
Reserve – Dr. Mike Cherry, College of Business
Gentleness – Steve Zlatic, University Ministry
Zeal – Dr. Susan Sheffer, College of Arts and Sciences

April 5, 2019
3:00pm – 5:00pm
Vigilance – Dr. Susan Sheffer, College of Arts and Sciences
Generosity – Dr. George Klemic, College of Business
Prudence – Dr. Stephanie Gedzyk-Nieman, College of Nursing and Health Professions
Cyber Security and Protection
For Faculty and Staff

Phishing Awareness & Password Safety
Facilitated by Robert Barton
Phishing is a process by which fraudulent practices of sending emails purporting to be from reputable companies to lure individuals to reveal personal information, such as passwords and credit card numbers. This workshop will provide an overview of phishing, how it affects everybody, and how to spot it at home and in the workplace.
Location: Borromeo 121
Dates & Times:
Friday, November 9, 2018, 2:00– 3 pm
Wednesday, November 28, 2018, 12– 1:00 pm

Cyber Security Open Session
Facilitated by Robert Barton
This workshop will be an open session with tips, tricks and ample time for questions on the subject of security online. Join us for light refreshments and topics that matter most to you.
Location: Borromeo 121
Date & Time: Friday, November 16, 2018, 2:00 -3pm

Excel 2016 Tips & Tricks
Workshop for Faculty & Staff

Working with Data: Excel 2016 Tips & Tricks
Facilitated by Samantha Kinser, M.Ed.
Work better with data and learn how to work with tables, insert charts, and use helpful Excel functions. All faculty and staff are encouraged to attend.
Location: Faculty Center Lab, First Floor Library LR-112
Dates & Times:
Thursday, November 15, 12pm – 1pm
Monday, December 3, 12pm – 1pm

Register today to save your seat.